In a kind of spooky experiment, scientists at the Max Planck Institute for Human Cognitive and Brain Sciences reveal that our decisions are made seconds before we become aware of them. In the study, participants could freely decide if they wanted to press a button with their right or left hand. The only condition was that they had to remember when they made the decision to either use their ...

Why do we think we're so bad at maths, when we're all - almost all - born with brain circuits specialised for numbers? Our ability to use numbers has been the key from taking us from the Stone Age to the Phone Age. Trade, science and technology would be impossible without this ability. Neuroscientist Brian Butterworth argues that we are all born with brain circuits specialised for numbers.
