This chapter expands on the analysis of simple linear regression models and discusses the analysis of multiple linear regression models. A major portion of the results displayed in Weibull++ DOE folios are explained in this chapter because these results are associated with multiple linear regression. One of the applications of multiple linear regression models is Response Surface Methodology ...

Box and Cox (1964) developed the transformation. Estimation of any Box-Cox parameters is by maximum likelihood. Box and Cox (1964) offered an example in which the data had the form of survival times but the underlying biological structure was of hazard rates, and the transformation identified this.
